BAHEP welcomes Yokogawa Corporation of America

BAY AREA HOUSTON, TEXAS – Yokogawa Corporation of America, a leader in process automation technology, has joined the Bay Area Houston Economic Partnership. Headquartered in Sugar Land, Texas, Yokogawa specializes in distributed control systems (DCS), safety instrumented systems (SIS), field instrumentation, process analyzers, data acquisition solutions, and software that support asset reliability, operational efficiency, and plant optimization.

Brian Freedman, President of BAHEP, welcomed the company, stating, “Yokogawa’s expertise in industrial automation and operational technology is highly relevant to many sectors within our region. Their presence strengthens the ecosystem of companies that support energy transition, manufacturing, and reliability. We’re pleased to welcome them to BAHEP.”

Greg Pearson, Business Development Manager at Yokogawa, commented, “Yokogawa has a long history of supporting safe, efficient, and sustainable solutions for our customers. The Bay Area Houston region has strategic importance to many of the industries we serve, and we look forward to building strong relationships within BAHEP.”
